Everyone had a lot of fun and she is excited about the upcoming luncheon where the committee chairs will get a chance to highlight what they do and explain the importance of getting involved. So far 38 folks have signed up so it should be well attended.

Committee Updates

Programs Committee: The Feb luncheon is being hosted by AFSOC CPTS. We are hoping for a good turnout. Karen McDonnell is overseeing this event. Joe is looking for ideas for the March luncheon. Perhaps folks at the Jan luncheon can offer some suggestions? Denise will announce that we're looking for ideas and also ask for folks to contact her if they know of any visiting speakers that may be willing to add this event to their itinerary.

Community Service: Relay for Life is soon kicking off. Dedra is getting people to sign up but she could use some help. Fisher House continues to be a source of volunteer hours. We can always count on them for needing volunteers at an assortment of events.

Publicity: Jenna gave us the good news that our Facebook account is ready for launch! It was requested that any publicity requests be made known to the Secretary as such articles earn 5 star points for our chapter.

Ways and Means: George informed us that the golf tournament is scheduled for April 24th at the Eglin golf course. Last year it raised ~$3,250 for the chapter. George anticipates that Amy will do her magic again this year – getting lots of prize donations from area vendors. We did receive $100 from Chili's for the rebate event held there in Nov.

Education: Lisa announced that the CDFM course is totally full. There's actually 7 people wait listed. Sybil is working the testing for this event. By the end of Jan, Meg should have details about the CDFM-A class. LaTanya is working on an FM virtual workshop. The details should be publicized soon.

Awards: So far there's only been one submission for awards. Denise is going to try to get more participation before the period ends Friday, 17 Jan.

IT: Jason has updated the website populating the most current information.

Newsletter: Laura stated that the Newsletter is on the website for everyone to view. She also sent it out to the Hurlburt RA's.

The minutes from 4 Dec 2013 were approved.
