AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MILITARY COMPTROLLERS

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

PATI GALVAN

I want to start off by thanking everyone for the opportunity to serve as your 2005/2006 chapter president. I appreciate the confidence you've instilled in me and the chance to build upon the successes of the past administration. They left us in good shape with many great ideas for the coming year.

ASMC has meant many things to me over the years. Not only is it an organization that offers excellent training opportunities but it's also an avenue to meet and work with other professionals. The core of this organization and what makes it all work are the members. And as a member of any organization, a certain amount of dedication and giving of one's self is needed. We count on each and every one of you to help us ensure that our chapter continues on with the fine traditions of success this great organization has experienced over the years.

As we move into this new ASMC year my goal is to continue the chapter's solid record of accomplishments. I would like to focus on maintaining Five Star Chapter Award status, increasing chapter membership, and continue to find additional ways the chapter can inform, encourage, and assist members with educational and training opportunities.

I challenge each of you to lend your talents and time to areas of interest to you and encourage you to call or write any of our committee members with your ideas on any thing that would contribute to the further enhancement of our chapter.

I am looking forward to an exciting year!

Eglin VP – Capt Eileen LaBrecque

I would like to begin by saying a big thank you to all those folks who voted for me to be the VP for Eglin. I am truly honored and excited to hold this role and I will do the best job I can while I hold this position. I would also like extend an open invitation to each and every one of you to help to contribute to the success of the Gulf Coast ASMC Chapter in maintaining our outstanding rating by volunteering for one of the many events in the upcoming year. The list of volunteer opportunities is endless ranging from being a lead coordinator for a regional PDI committee to assisting with putting together packets for the event. Every little bit helps! I realize everyone has a full plate but let's all do our best to help out the Chapter this year.

Being involved in the Gulf Coast ASMC Chapter is an excellent opportunity whether you are a new member or if you have been a member for years. We can all learn from each other by sharing old and new ideas. I encourage you all to utilize the Chapter to network and help each other to grow in our military comptroller world. Whether it is looking for help on an interview or needing assistance with a budget question we are all here to help each other out. I would also like to ask everyone to keep our military folks in your thoughts as many are deploying over the next few months.

I hope to see you all at our monthly luncheons. We welcome your feedback to ensure we are providing you with the types of guest speakers you want to see and hear. I look forward to a great year ahead serving as your Eglin VP!

Tenants VP – Dee LaGarde

Thank you once again for electing me as your Vice-President, tenant. Of course, when there is only one candidate, “election” is a strong word to use; but I am a willing volunteer to make this the best year. I am also the President of the Northwest Florida Chapter of the Institute of Internal Auditors. No, I don’t want to make you auditors, but I do think that we can learn from each other. Our chapter offers quality programs sanctioned and approved by the Florida Department of Business Regulations. I am hoping to be able to join forces to the point that some of the sessions offered in the Mini-PDI will be pre-approved for CPE credit recognized by the states. During the year, I will keep you informed of IIA events throughout the Panhandle. For example, we are working on a Gaming Fraud seminar in November discussing fraud issues in the casinos and state lottery. I attended the IIA conference in Chicago and learned that ALL finance, accounting, cost, budget, program, and resource personnel should be aware of fraud and should attend training. Since Enron and WorldCom, fraud has increased – perhaps because it is reported more by alert professionals. Here is hoping that we will Seize the Moment and have a very good year!

Hurlburt VP – Ms Annette Beard

I’d like to thank the Gulf Coast ASMC Chapter members for giving me the opportunity to serve as Hurlburt VP. I am honored to be in a position to give back to my profession, the Air Force, and our local community.

As financial managers and “strategic partners,” we should be clearly focused on supporting the warfighter. How? – by studying and understanding our missions and requirements; by learning to speak the warfighters’ language; by translating requirements into financial plans; and by fighting for dollars to support crucial unfunded requirements. It is our job to get state-of-the-art weapons, equipment, and software into the hands of the operators – in the air or on the ground. It’s our job to keep the Flying Mission funded. Deployed members of the United States Air Force are giving their all in the Global War on Terrorism. They shouldn’t have to worry about funding – it’s our job to make it happen for them.

Second, I’d like to encourage all of you to get involved. We have several committees and lots of work to do to prepare for the Regional Professional Development Institute (PDI) next spring. Find your niche and volunteer. Our chapter directly benefits the local community through scholarships and donations to local charities. But we can’t succeed without your time and skills.

My goal is for the Gulf Coast ASMC Chapter to help us grow and develop so that each individual is better prepared to serve the warfighter and to serve the community. Our monthly luncheons provide excellent opportunities to learn directly from operators – let’s invite more speakers returning from deployments to give us that first-hand perspective. Also, our Regional PDI allows us to broaden our perspectives, hone our financial management skills and support local charities. Let’s make the most of these events.

I look forward to working with all of you while serving as your Hurlburt VP.

Respectfully,
Annette Beard, CDFM
Hurlburt VP

16 June 2005 – Luncheon Meeting

Tim Bozoki, President, called the meeting to order and introduced the speaker. Mr Roger Bick is Director of Strategic Planning in the SAF/FM Transformation Office.

Major points in the Transformation effort:

1. The administration is set on changing the way we do business.
2. Need to transfer our assets to the warfighter.
3. Change from transaction work to decision support.
4. Protecting the warfighter is JOB ONE.
4. The Center of Expertise will stand up October 2005 in Colorado Springs.
5. To establish the call centers, the AF has given up 548 positions (mostly enlisted).

Tim reminded everyone that next month (July) will be the Officer Induction for the 2005-06 year. We will also have a CDFM induction.

2005 National PDI Briefings

Briefings from the courses are available at <http://asmconline.org/development/extendedlearning.shtml>. They will be adding more as they are received, so check back if the one you need is not yet available.

CDFM Certification Team

The Gulf Coast ASMC chapter would like to congratulate all those from our chapter that earned their CDFM certificates in the last year.

Guest Columnist – Cynthia Chavez

I was selected recently to attend the Professional Military Comptroller School (PMCS), a milestone in any Budget Analyst's career. I had heard many people talk about their time at PMCS and was excited to go. Two weeks before my departure, during our chapter's Regional PDI, I attended a workshop that discussed the changes in PMCS. First, the course is now called the Defense Financial Management Course (DFMC) at PMCS. Second is the selection process to attend. Finally, the PMCS leadership have a heightened desire for the course to be truly a joint experience. In previous classes, the majority of students were Air Force (military and civilian) and it was a six-week course. DFMC at PMCS is now four weeks long and less than half of the students belonged to the Air Force. My class had Marines, Army, Auditors, Navy, and Air Force military and civilians as students and instructors. (The previous class also had DFAS and Coast Guard students in attendance.) This diverse group of individuals encouraged me to look at the information provided in the seminars, classroom, practical exercises, and after-duty activities from "outside my Air Force box."

During the selection process I had to talk about why I wanted to attend DFMC and what I would do with the knowledge that I gained from attending DFMC. Insight on why these questions were asked came once class began. The teaching staff used our answers to ensure each class was a mixed bag of people with varying levels experience, military affiliation, military and civilian. Throughout the four weeks I was presented with opportunities to practice what I had put into words on my application, exercise my leadership style, being a valuable member at the decision maker's table, and present financial information in a format that was not just numbers and charts. I had the chance to listen to many FM and non-FM speakers who discussed what they needed from a financial manager as a strategic partner within an organization. The briefings provided were reinforced through practical exercises that allowed me to use the skills that are needed in the day-to-day operation of a busy office.

For those of you who are looking to attend a course that will give you a challenge and assist in your growth as a leader I would recommend attending DFMC at PMCS. As you prepare to advance in your career this course will provide you the stimulation to articulate your leadership style, hone your writing skills, and practice briefing at the senior leadership level. DFMC gave me the chance to develop new friendships with a diverse group of financial managers that has energized me to look for opportunities that will allow me to obtain my career goals. I hope that I have encouraged all those interested in attending this course. Good luck.

Cindy Chavez is a GS-12 Budget Analyst at HQ AFSOC/FMOO.

Hurricane Thoughts – Ms Annette Beard

Looking at the catastrophic events over the last year, I am overwhelmed. Many of us in the Hurlburt/Eglin area were affected by Hurricane Ivan, then more recently by Hurricane Dennis. The devastation from Hurricane Katrina, however, is beyond comprehension. I'd like to ask you all to find a way to help the communities and individuals who have lost so much – at a minimum, please keep them in your prayers.

Education Committee

What a wonderful Scholarship program we had this year. Although our nominees for the National ASMC Scholarship were not selected, we wish them every success with their future endeavors.

I would like to take this opportunity to again thank the members of the 2005 Gulf Coast Scholarship Committee:

Gulf Coast Scholarship Publicity Chairperson: Ms Verna McBride

Gulf Coast Scholarship Evaluation Team:

Ms Kathy Allen	Lt Rebecca Ostrander
Ms Annette Beard	Ms Susan Riedel
Ms Beverly Bridges	Ms Allie Stanley
Mr John Dininger	Mr John Straughn
Mr Mike Napoli	Ms Karen Williams

We are very grateful to all of the chapter membership as you have once again provided funding for three $1,000 scholarships and six $500 scholarships. Keep up those great fund raising events!!!!

Ms McBride did such a terrific publicity job for us again this year. The evaluation team had their work cut out for them with 14 scholarship application packages to score. However, they made it work and I believe the excellent selection of scholarship recipients reflects their hard work. Of course, we all wish we could give every applicant some scholarship money as they are all working hard to complete their college work, but that is just not possible. However, thanks to our wonderful Gulf Coast Chapter, we were able to provide some financial assistance to 9 of the 14 applicants.

Pauline Saunders, Chairperson
